- 17:44:24 From Cindy Black : We also set up our own google classroom.
- 17:44:36 From Michaela Trujillo : Text!! Very effective
- 17:44:49 From Elesha Fetrow : I would use the same technology
- 17:44:50 From Rachel Yazzie : We offer office hours.
- 17:45:00 From Debra Jamison : We use Microsoft Teams here at Gallup High School. I have also set up my own team of students and use team chat to talk with each one.
- 17:45:04 From Juanita Hudson : have you set up a Teams site just for your students?
- 17:45:06 From Elesha Fetrow : Host an online party
- 17:45:08 From Karen Kaufman : There are texting Apps such as remind.
- 17:45:08 From Delores Martinez : What about confidentiality issues with working/meeting with these students virtually...is there a form that student's can fill so we don't have liability issues?
- 17:45:17 From Mari Chacon : You can set up a google meet for that conversation without having a whole class together. Parents have been really good about providing cell numbers for their children.
- 17:45:22 From Rachel Yazzie : We created a Goggle Survey and asked for their cell phone number.
- 17:45:27 From Sharla Schmidt-Baker : Google Hangouts Office hours Invites for Google Meets

- 17:45:49 From Christina Vigil : I have set up a google classroom strictly for resources for students to review when they can—you can post under various topics including but not limited to the following: announcements, etc.
- 17:45:50 From Michaela Trujillo : Set office hours, same day, same time every week
- 17:45:51 From Monica Romero : We are using Microsoft Teams and are working on getting students to log in all day. Once that works we will be able to reach the students with a touch of the button.
- 17:46:01 From Elesha Fetrow : Remind App
- 17:46:03 From Joyce Romero : We use School Messenger to communicate with Parents, ClassDojo to communicate with students and parents and I also have emails for all students for our district here in Santa Rosa. You can also use Remind 17:46:46 From Mari Chacon : We have a number of families with international phone numbers, so the google hang out to talk works pretty good. I can't call internal with google voice, but otherwise it works really good for contacting students and parents.

17:47:16 From Jennifer Timme : The google form allows for students to privately share name, email, number, academic/personal, and comments I asked all the teachers of my grade level to share the form and my google classroom code with their students. I ended up at the end of last year, I captured about half of my students.

17:47:46 From Jocelyn Herzog Benavides : I call parents with Google voice but students most often use synergy to message me

17:48:32 From Jennifer Timme : teachers are usually more than willing to share your contact information and google class code

17:48:35 From Rachel Yazzie : We use Schoology and created an advisement. Post updates, office hours, create assignments, email students and parents have access to Schoology and they can email us as well.

17:48:35 From Elesha Fetrow : ASCA advice for google voice is to check with your district...

17:48:42 From Michaela Trujillo : My school was willing/able to purchase the counselors a cell phone...ask

17:49:04 From Joyce Romero : We are a small district so my students have my cell phone so I'm reachable at all times but that's not for everyone

17:49:18 From Jennifer Timme : The google form is so easy to create and gathers and populates responses in google sheets. Great way to document contacts and needs

17:49:56 From Cristin Haake : Hi Brandon!!

17:50:24 From Joselyn Glicco Canty : we post alot of information iin google classrooms of the grade level advisories and class level advisory.

17:50:45 From Mari Chacon : It does work better to keep it all separate, using a separate gmail to connect to google voice

17:50:55 From Judy Cruz : I use Google Voice and it works great. No issues.

17:51:05 From Rachel Yazzie : We also used Google Forms when we were in person. To collect data on how many students were checking into our office and why. This allowed us to provide data to our district on what we see students for.
